LONDON'S LONGEST STREET TO GO.

£100,000 CLEARANCE SCHEME.

LITTLE KNOWN SCENES DOWN BY THE RIVERSIDE.

The application of Bermondsey Borough Council for permission to borrow £100,000 for slum clearance marks a further advance of the policy of this authority to rid the district of slums which once included some of the worst housing areas in London.

Three years ago, after incredible difficulty and delay, a start was made to clear Hickman's Rolly, the Jacob's Island of "Oliver Twist." This was followed by an attack on the Salisbury Street area, comprising about four acres of ground, on which were 151 houses inhabited by 1,035 persons. Now this task of rebuilding is proceeding the council makes its third advance on slumdom, among its objectives this time being Paradise Street and Rotherhithe Street.

Thus some of the oldest and most interesting property on Thames-side is brought under notice by the latest demolition scheme. Many years ago Bermondsey's proud boast to all London was voiced in the following doggerel:—

The longest street,
The greatest store,
The widest bridge,
The greatest bore.

There are not many people who can say what are these four things, but an old resident will explain that the longest street was Rotherhithe Street, 2½ miles; the greatest store, King and Queen Canaries; the widest bridge, Millpond Bridge; and the greatest bore, the Thames Tunnel.

Old Wooden Houses.

It is on the 2½ miles of Rotherhithe Street that the new attack is proposed to be made. Anyone who wishes to see a real bit of old London, with wooden houses 200 years old, riverside inns with balconies overhanging the river, old wharves rich in historic picturesqueness, and redolent with the W. W. Jacobs atmosphere, should explore its long, narrow, and winding length one Sunday morning. At any other time it would be difficult, for the wharves and warehouses are busy and dock traffic on the move, while the street is so narrow that two large vehicles have difficulty in passing.

Among the 2,000 people who will be affected by the clearance scheme in this area are those belonging to some of the oldest families in London. Bermondsey as a whole, lying in a loop of the river, is a backwater of London which has been least affected by the ebb and flow of population; its people retain marked characteristics as real Londoners, and Rotherhithe Street is a colony of them. They are the descendants of watermen who were once a prosperous fraternity of the riverside; some can trace back several generations of one family occupying the same house. To-day they retain a respectability far above the poverty to which they have sunk.

Descendants of Sea Captains.

It is the same in other parts of Bermondsey. Everywhere may be found descendants of old sea-captains who were born and bred in Bermondsey and retired to spend their last days in style in Princes Street or Cherry Garden Street. Their old houses, with the fine carved doorways and panelled rooms, are now let off in one-room tenements.

In the Paradise Street area, scheduled for demolition, it is reported that twenty-one adults and sixteen children were living in twelve rooms. In one back room a man, his wife, and five children were sleeping. Yet this is in the old parish of Horselydown, and at the back may be found a romantic bit of old London round St. John's Church of that parish, near which is the old charity school, with the carved figures of two children still to be seen adorning the front.

An old news sheet, published in 1784, contains the following account of bell-ringing in Horselydown:—Monday last being kept as the anniversary of Her Majesty's nativity, a grand opening of the New Peal of bells, erected at the Parish Church of St. John, Horselydown, took place, when a society of gentlemen, who were lovers of the art of ringing, gave ten gold-laced hats and a dinner to be rung for by different ringers. About 10 o'clock a set of young gentlemen ascended the tower to gratify a number of hearers with a specimen of their unparalleled abilities in that art. They were obliged to quit the steeple through private doors in order to avoid the loud reception prepared for them by the auditors. After this the Society of Cumberland Youths ascended the steeple, and amidst the acclamations of upwards of 10,000 spectators, rang the first peal complete.

The bells of St. John's Horselydown, have not been rung for many years.

Varied History.

Though this part of London has come down in the world, no other borough has such a varied history. The Abbey of St. Cuthbert, Bermondsey, one of the greatest monastic houses in Southern England, has now disappeared without leaving a trace. There was once a spa at Bermondsey, with a chalybeate spring and entertainments in the summer seasons. John Timbs records the "delightful gardens" at Snow Fields, Bermondsey, where he spent his childhood, and Curtis, the author of the monumental "Flora Londinensis," first established in Bermondsey the famous botanical gardens, afterwards removed to Brompton. A century ago it was noted for market gardens, and old people remember Pettit's farmhouse in Blue Anchor Lane.

It was the coming of the Greenwich railway in the forties that set Bermondsey on the downward grade. Much has been done in the past six years to raise it from the squalor into which it had sunk, and not the least has been the beautification scheme of the local council, which spent £10,000 in trees and plants.

AUTUMN HATS.

THE NEW HATS.

It looks almost as though women would be able to see and hear again in the new hats, to say nothing of admitting that they have hair and foreheads. This means, of course, a rather less tidy age, since the thrust of the head and hair into a tight bag did not allow of any excrescences. Almost all the new autumn hats, instead of being bounded by the eyebrows, and not always by that, have a thrust toward the side-back with a corresponding lift over the forehead on one side. Others are thrust right back, and berets, for instance, almost bag at the back of the neck, owing to the fact that they do not cover the forehead at all. This looseness at the back of the hat is sometimes exaggerated of set purpose.

ROUND THE SHOPS.

[By "EVE"]

Lane, Crawford's. The fur scarf is destined to play an important role this autumn and will add a feminine, graceful note to tailors and formal suits. The full selection which Lane, Crawford have on display will add infinite charm and importance to your new costume. Silver fox, one of the proudest aristocrats in the fur world, is used to make a scarf. Stone martin joined in two and three pieces also is used. Kolinsky, blue fox opossum and nutria lamb are made in large collars with cuffs carried in long points almost as high as the elbow. Nutria lamb is a smart model with a high double collar; this wears exceedingly well and comes into the category of less expensive furs. Gloves also are lined and cuffed with fur this season, and some shown in wear in brown suede lined with wool and cuffed with beaver.

In another department I saw some flowered nylon dress lengths. These are of exceptional quality, and exclusive designs, and would be ideal for dresses suitable for afternoon and evening wear.

Whiteaway's. Now that the dance season is here and as long gloves for evening wear have definitely come back, our evening kit must necessarily include at least one pair of gloves. Whiteaway's have just received a new consignment of gloves suitable for all occasions. Those for day wear are in many materials and colours, but the only difference in the evening gloves is in their length. All are in white kid but some are only elbow length while others reach almost to the shoulder. A new lot of women's and children's knitted stockings have just been unpacked. These are of first class quality, and are priced at very moderate figures. A special lot of stockings in the local boy scout colours has just arrived.

Pamela. In spite of this season's voluminous fashions for frocks, capes and frills, the new sports suits are quite simple. Pamela has just received from London and Paris some of the smartest tailor-made ones.

The accessories at this store are the last word, and a very large consignment of day and evening bags has just been unpacked. Beads form the most outstanding feature of evening bags. One rather delightful one was made entirely of seed pearls in an unusual design. Multicoloured fabrics and gold brocade make another group of new models.

The Dolly Vardon Hat Shop. Autumn time is, of course, hat time, and everyone has different tastes in the matter of millinery. If you are contemplating a new hat, and don't know just what you want, look out for the "Catalina" and "Mayfair" hats at the Dolly Vardon Hat Shop. All the newest models of these makes are always to be seen at this hat shop as a new consignment arrives every two weeks, and although they are not terribly expensive they can be relied on to be in the very latest mode. Every model shows some new aspect of fashion in its most becoming form, and so the problem of what to choose is considerably simplified.

At this salon, one learns that smartness is within the reach of every owner of a not too deep purse. Sports suits and coats alike are the last word in smartness and quality, and are beautifully manufactured.

Maison Martine. Dress for the new season is distinguished from its predecessors by many changes which, while small and subtle in themselves, are yet easily recognized by the initiated. Women, therefore, who want to keep up a reputation for dressing with the times cannot afford to put off for a moment the important business of choosing an autumn outfit. Maison Martine, true to an established reputation for providing all the best things fashion has to show as soon as they are launched, has assembled a delightful Paris collection of Autumn dresses and coats for all occasions. Lace is used for some of the smartest evening frocks; the princess line, the fluted frills, becoming capes and berths and draped winged panels are very much in vogue.

Pioneers. Printed chiffon and georgettes in floral designs still retain their popularity. There are lovely new designs of this material printed on back grounds of darker shades. Plain chiffon and silk are also extensively used for frocks this season, and Pioneers have just received a very large stock of these materials in all the latest winter shades. A new lot of "hour" and dancing coats have also arrived and are as nice of any seen this season. Pioneers have always very large stocks of "hour" and dancing coats in all the new colours.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE'S NOTE BOOK.

To draw threads easily from sheer linen put the material into a dish of cold water.

To prevent that greasy look one often sees round letter-boxes, knobs, etc., on front doors, cut some cardboards to fit round same, and pop them on before applying the polish.

Milk that is intended for coffee should be heated very gently, never allowed to quite reach boiling point. If it does the cream and albumen are lost in the skin that forms and which many people remove.

A lump of sugar added to the cold tea used for cleaning black walnut and oak furniture, picture frames and mirror mouldings, will impart a rich and lasting gloss to the wood and prevent unsightly tarnish marks.

Add a lump of sugar to the juice of a lemon when cleaning tiles and glazed bricks, it will remove dirt and stains almost with a touch, and give a rich brilliancy that will last for several days without further attention.

A pinch of bi-carbonate of soda will destroy the rough, acid taste of damson.

To sweeten sour cream put it into a basin with the juice of a lemon and a tablespoonful of castor sugar and whip until stiff. This will be quite sweet and increase the quantity.

After boiling a tongue, cut it lengthwise and place the outside of the tongue to the inside before pressing. The tongue cuts much more easily, and not a bit is wasted, as it cuts well to the last slice.

Before handling fish dip your fingers in salt. It keeps them cool, and prevents the fish slipping.

WOMAN'S PAGE

GOING THE PACE.

WHAT MONEY CAN BUY.

How much can a lucky girl spend on a few simple clothes and toilet accessories, if Papa, having had a good day on the Stock Exchange, tells her to go out and have a really sumptuous afternoon's shopping? The idea occurred, the other day, to a young woman over in New York, who set forth on a voyage of discovery.

For stockings she found that you can pay up to $100 (pounds, mark you) a pair; for this sum you obtain chignon stockings with real lace insertions. Three-piece sets of plain crêpe de chine lingerie, without lace or embroidery, were offered her for a mere $20, but other sets, trimmed with the finest lace, cost as much as $100—in black chignon trimmed with coffee-stained lace, for instance. Very high prices, too, could be paid at a shop which specialised in fragile chignon sets in colours to harmonise with the frocks. A nightgown, to match the daytime lingerie sets, cost $20. A satin and lace corselet cost $17, and a giraffe of satin and lace for evening wear was ten shillings less. The most costly corsets offered her were comparatively cheap—only about $20 unless she chose to demand trimmings of real lace.

Suitable hats for a variety of occasions cost $12 each, but an exclusive Paris model, consisting of a rhinestone buckle and a very few shillings' worth of soft black felt, was offered her for $35! Nice simple frocks ("imported models, Modom") were priced at $20; and for quite a good-looking ensemble, though naturally without fur trimmings at such a modest price, was offered for $150. One hundred pounds was the average price of the best evening gowns; a wrap, with a little fur on it, cost the same. Fur coats depended, of course, on the sort of fur. Chinchilla topped the lot. A really swell chinchilla coat cost $28,000.

Too Good to Lose.

Most of us feel proud of such (if any) of our handkerchiefs as have set us back half a crown apiece. This young woman, roving round New York's luxury shops, found herself offered plenty priced at $15 apiece, and some at prices ranging up to $20. To drop on such handkerchiefs she was offered white violet at $10 an ounce. The usual price for shopping handbags was about $11, though unusual specimens were priced at as much as $19. Quite a nice seed pearl bag, for carrying in the evening, came to $100. Evening slippers, made to order, were priced at between $20 and $30 a pair. Great stress was laid, as in the case of nearly all the other things, on the objects having come from abroad or being of partly foreign manufacture. For $10 extra one could have gold or silver-plated heels (pay your money and take your choice). Some shoes cost $40 a pair.

The costliest outdoor walking shoes, however, cost only one $15 to $20. That is a comforting fact to bear in mind if you ever find yourself out shopping in New York City.

HAIR "OUT."

Dictators of the mode—whenever they may be—have decreed that women shall continue to wear foreheads this autumn. More, their brows are to be further encouraged in that loftiness, that protuberance, that Je ne sais quoi of naked distinction that during the summer has marked out the ultra-fashionable forehead from the low-brows.

Hair is completely "out." The correct expression is one of slightly bored astonishment induced by straining the hair back under one of the small American skull caps that automatically raise the eyebrows and give the wearer an attractive appearance of being suspended by the scalp.

This delightful fashion is not new. In the fifteenth century it was definitely bad form for any lady of quality to show her hair. The offending growth was scraped back under a close-fitting coil that displayed the forehead and had little holes for the ears. This detail may be adopted by the most exclusive milliners.

In the Caroline period in England, too, a very high forehead was in favour, and slightly bulging eyes were smart. Among popular beauty recipes there are many to prevent hair growing too low on the fashionable brow.

They have the impertinence to say they will not obey the stern forehead laws recently issued officially from Paris.

What is the use, ask the rebels, of deep, mysterious glances, if they must be shot, so to speak, from under a magnified billiard ball? Where are the secrets (continue these disgraceful creatures) of a woman's face, pitilessly exposed in every line and angle? For what were drooping brows, seductive curls, shadows, and reticences invented?

In the shade of a cunning brim one's eyes can look like stars. Straining from under the present hairless expanse they only look like gooseberries. Down with the fashion oracle, they cry! Why shouldn't we, for a change, wear what becomes us?

To be brief, the hats are in the ring, and the hair has begun to fly.

Individuality and that indefinable charm so coveted by every woman are most adequately expressed in Dresses designed by

THE NEW MODE.

MENDING A TEAR.

The newest mending, both of thick and medium-weight materials, is done without stitching, and the result is almost undetectable. A preparation resembling the old-fashioned "tyre solution" of cyclists is used. Should the tear be a clean cut, it is only necessary to secure, with the solution, a piece of lining underneath it. A jagged cut is treated by cutting out a clean hole and laying a piece of material matching the garment (usually a scrap, is obtainable at a woman's underwear; securing this, and then affixing a piece of lining. The mend will stand careful washing.

SEA-WATER STAINS.

Sea-water stains should be dealt with as soon as possible, before they get beyond remedy. Light summer garments which will soon be washed can be left quite safely, but navy and black articles should be treated at once. First sponge out the stain with cold soft water by stretching the garment tightly over a basin and letting the water run over it again and again. This will wash out the salt, and a pressing afterwards with a warm iron will banish any trace of the stain. Should the stain be stubborn, then a sponging with vinegar will prove effective. More delicate fabrics should be stretched tightly and the strains beaten smartly with a little cane. This will knock out the salt, and after steaming and pressing no mark should be visible.

CHINA NEWS IN THE BRITISH PRESS.

A VIGOROUS PROTEST.

Mr. Yang Kuang Sheng, who is at present in Europe, recently wrote to the China Express and Telegraph criticising British Press reports about events in China. He says:—

Much ink has been recently spilt over the question of American public opinion and the situation in India. Mr. Edward Thompson and others have pointed out definitely that, in their opinion, the pictures of India presented by the American Press are false.

Having been in England for the last five months and carefully collected clippings from several of the recognised leading British newspapers on the situation in China, I feel it necessary to point out that the misrepresentation of the situation in China in the British Press, to a Chinese, is no less than that of the situation in India in the American Press, to the British. I do not for one moment wish to question the truth of the Press stories from China describing famine, banditry, communism, and kidnapping; the point is that they are not the whole truth. Disorders and lawlessness there are; but disorders and lawlessness are not the only products of present-day China.

Out of some two hundred and fifty clippings I have collected during the last several months on the situation in China, over ninety-five per cent. of them read "A New Peril in China," "The North China War," "Red Banditry in China,"
"Heavy Fighting in China," "Lawless China," "Sacking of Chang-sha," "Bandits Threat to Kill Missionary," "Red Terror on the Yangtze," and some such captions that are similar in meaning, only different in wording. Had I not left China just recently and then kept in direct touch with the situation over there, I would undoubtedly be in common with the British public, have long been under the spell of despondency and despair for China.

Some Important Facts.

China, more a continent than a country, larger than the whole of Europe, passing as she now is the period of transition, is bound to confront difficulties in certain parts of the vast territory she possesses.
If the public must be fed with the stories of communism, banditry and the like, it must also be taught to grasp the following facts:—First, the looting, disorders, and even civil war, in certain parts of the country do not affect to any considerable extent other parts that are not directly involved. Secondly, China, the nation as a whole, goes on in spite of the unfavourable conditions of recent years. The necessity of the journalist to search for the extraordinary and the spectacular has exposed the superficial China, the passing China; it has neglected to present also the real China, the permanent China.

Trade Still Going On.

Industry, commerce, and reconstructive activities have not been brought to a standstill. In the words of Mr. Gillett, Parliamentary Secretary of the Overseas Trade Department: "There may be an impression that the Chinese market is not worth cultivating in view of unfortunate disturbances which have taken place during the past few years in China, but this impression is most unjustified. In spite of internal disturbances, the import trade of China is making great advances every year, and last year her total foreign trade registered a record value."

Why Not a Little Optimism?

The Shanghai Customs returns for the month of July of this year indicates an increase over the month of June and compares favourably with the same period of last year.
If these are the results, why not present the public with the facts that have made these results possible? If the British Government and cotton traders are convinced of the hopefulness of Sino-British trade and have gone so far as to send an Economic Mission, why should not the public be also given a general picture of hopeful impression of the situation in China?
Instead of concentrating all efforts on the reporting of destructive forces that are ravaging parts of China, why not exert some of them in informing the public of the constructive forces that are consolidating the foundation of a new China?

Public Ignorance Creates Pessimism.

A whole book may be written on what has been done in the field of reconstruction by the Chinese Government and people through these last years of unfortunate unrest.
"Two years of Nationalist China," by M. T. Z. T'yu (LL.D., of University of London), published last month by Kelly & Walsh Co., Shanghai, gives in its five hundred pages only pertinent facts, on the subject. These facts will never reach the general public, however, unless these facts should have reached him during the last two or three years, in the form of news and articles. The public ignorance of the true and comprehensive situation in China is unfortunate in that a pessimistic impression creates a pessimistic outlook; and nothing discourages one more than a pessimistic and dismal outlook in the fields of international finances and trade.

If trade depression must be remedied, we might just as well begin with psychological depression.
The general psychological depression towards China is not justifiable by facts. Is it not better to realise that America's, Japan's, and Germany's share in China's foreign trade has increased at the expense of the British? Is it not better to chase off the gloom that has been spread by the China correspondents, living as they have always been in the atmosphere and environment of local foreign interests whose sole hope is gloom over China, so that they may keep on petitioning their respective governments to further postpone the negotiations for the ending of their untenable privileges in China, the maintenance of which is, in reality, at the expense of the general commercial interests of their home countries.

Things That Matter.

The six contracts between China and America and Germany for the linking of important Chinese cities and of Nanking and Berlin (the line between Shanghai, Nanking, and Hankow having been in operation already) the co-operation between the League of Nations and China in the field of health work, the modernisation of the Province of Chekiang, the new Chinese Criminal Code, and the Civil Code, the project for the completion of the Hukuang and Lungai Railways, and hundred and other subjects, are of more interest and importance to the public than the bandit activities in Chungking, Tientsin, Tsinan, and Luichang, Yankong, Tientsin, Su-hsien, Tientsin, Wuyuanhsien, Liencheng, Yehchang, Su-hsien, Jukso and others, in which the British do not even have a phonetic interest. Not all the people in China sit trembling and waiting for disaster, or it would have been impossible to maintain the level of China's foreign trade, leaving alone its increase.

DEAD MAN AT THE DRIVING WHEEL.

HEART DISEASE AND AN 'ACCIDENT.'

The remarkable revelation that a chauffeur was dead when an accident occurred to the motor-car in which he was driving his employers, an elderly clergyman and his wife, home from a theatre, was made at an inquest at Hastings last month.
The chauffeur was Bert Edward Foster, aged fifty-five, employed by the Rev. H. Spencer Aldridge, of Hurst Down, St. Helens, near Hastings.
The house surgeon at the Royal East Sussex Hospital said that Foster had scalp wounds, but these were not sufficient to cause death, which was due to syncope following valvular disease of the heart.
A verdict of "Death from natural causes" was returned.
Thomas Harmer, the night porter at the Castle Hotel, said that when Foster went to get the car he fell down, but afterwards got up, saying, "It's only a little heart attack."

THE SILVER SCREEN.

"JOURNEY'S END."

"Journey's End," which will be shown at the Central Theatre, has been acclaimed by reviewers the world over as the last word in reality. In producing the all-dialogue screen version, Tiffany adhered religiously to the original stage script and the result is according to those who have seen the picture, that viewing "Journey's End" on the screen is equivalent to spending two hours in the front line trenches.

In order to obtain the effects necessary to bring about these results of realism, Director James Whale and Supervisor George Pearson went to unusual lengths. Since all the action of the picture would be in the mud of the trench and the dirt and dim light of the dugout it was absolutely essential that all the players thoroughly familiarized themselves with these surroundings. Consequently, all rehearsals of various scenes, all staff conferences and all production business that would ordinarily take place in well-appointed studio offices, actually took place in the trenches and the dugout. Mason, the cook, played by Charles Gerard, spends all his off-stage time in the play in the small kitchen pit off the main dugout. The pit is never shown either in the play or the picture, but Whale and Pearson, insistent upon maintaining true front-line atmosphere, decided that Mr. Gerard should spend his off-stage time in a dugout specially constructed for him off the main dugout. He couldn't step out into the fresh air for a smoke; he had to remain in the cold, dismal and cramped quarters the author had written for him.

Another innovation introduced by Whale and Pearson was their strict order to members of the cast never to call each other by their real names, even before, after or after scenes. No one addressed Colin Clive either as Colin or Clive. He was Stanhope, the name of his character in the picture, to one and all. The same rule applied to the rest of the cast. Constant application of this rule made impossible any lapse of memory; the men called each other by their character names naturally and easily.

The cast of "Journey's End" is headed by Colin Clive, who originated the role of Captain Stanhope in the original London company, and who was loaned to Tiffany through the courtesy of the London producer, Maurice Brown. The other players are Ian MacLaren, David Manners, Billy Bevan, Anthony Bushell, Robert A. Dair, Charles Gerard, Thomas Whitely, Jack Pitcairn and Warner Klinger. The picture was recorded by R.O.A. Photophone.

"Lilac Time" at the Majestic.

Another fine film production "Lilac Time" was shown at the Majestic Theatre, Kowloon, last night. A dramatic portrayal is given by Colleen Moore in the stellar role.

Miss Moore, heretofore known chiefly as a comedienne, can now rank with the finest dramatic artists on the screen. She surprised and delighted her most ardent admirers in the role of Jeannine, the little French girl behind the lines the part created by Jane Cowl in France, and her rendition of the stage version of this same story was a revelation. Gary Cooper, leading man, shares acting honours with the star.

"Lilac Time" is ably produced by John McCormick and splendidly directed by George Fitzmaurice. It is a simple, realistic and charming romance with the World War as a background. We see Miss Moore as the pathetic little figure in the midst of war's alarms. She hides her tears behind a smile as her sweetheart flies away to almost certain death over the lines of the enemy. We are enthralled at the romance, gripped by the suspense, and thrilled by the dramatic scenes of this great love story as it unfolds before us.

Gary Cooper, remembered for his fine work in "Beau Sabreur" and "The Legion of the Condemned," does even better work in "Lilac Time" as Jeannine's sweetheart, and the others in the company contribute their share towards the success of the picture.

"It's a Great Life."

The Starland Theatre, in the suburbs of Los Angeles, should have a bronze plate in its lobby, to celebrate a historic event. For it was at an "amateur night" in that tiny neighbourhood house, only six blocks from the Duncan home, that Rosetta, the clown of the two famous sisters, made her professional debut.

She did not, however, appear in her present guise as a comedienne and blues singer. Yodelling was quite the craze then, so Rosetta came on as a Dutch yodeller. "Yodelling was so new," she said, "that not five people in the audience knew whether I was good or not. It was a cinch to get by." Nearly a year passed, after that before the present team of Vivian and Rosetta Duncan was formed. "By that time," Rosetta stated, "I had sense enough not to yodel."

The Duncan Sisters are appearing at the Queen's Theatre in "It's a Great Life," an all-talking, singing and dancing production filmed with technical colour sequences.

"Rogue Song."

Correct facial make-up, so important to every woman, is really much more of a science than most people suppose, according to Judith Vosselli, former stage star now in talking pictures.

In fact, says Miss Vosselli, it is because it is actually made a science on the stage that the actress has the advantage of her sister in this regard.

Miss Vosselli, who played the countess with Lawrence Tibbett in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Rogue Song," coming on Sunday to the Queen's Theatre, made good use of her make-up experience on the stage, for the picture was filmed entirely in natural colours. She gives a few of her secrets for other women.

"The main thing is to apply just enough and not too much of any form of make-up," Miss Vosselli states. "In the daytime powder and lipstick are all the average woman needs—perhaps just a faint suggestion of rouge. At night when one is under artificial light one can enhance her colouring, for one looks paler out of the sunlight. Hence for evening wear rouge can be applied, but still sparingly, and some women change to a darker shade of lipstick. "Eyebrows must be carefully pencilled, and care taken never to make up the eyelashes too much, as the eyes are the first thing noticed."

UNRULINESS IN REICHSTAG.

SOCIALISTS HOOT AT FINANCE MINISTER.

GOVERNMENT SUCCESS.

Berlin, Oct. 17.—The Government to-day scored heavily when the Reichstag passed the second reading of the bill authorising the Treasury to sign the agreement on a 500 million marks loan with the New York banking firm of Lee, Higginson and Co. which is regarded not only as quite favourable in its financial terms but of even greater importance as showing the confidence of foreign capitalists in the financial stability of the Reich. In the debate which preceded the division on this bill an acrimonious verbal duel developed between the National Socialist benches and the Minister of Finance, Dr. Dietrich, who insisted that the deficit in the current year's budget which the loan is designed to cover, was solely caused by the drop in the Reich's revenues and the increased demands upon the unemployment fund, both of which were due to the prevailing economic depression. This statement was repeatedly interrupted by catcalls from the National Socialists, and pandemonium ensued when Dr. Dietrich went on to charge the interrupters with panic-mongering, and asserted that they were purposely exaggerating the deficit and besides, by juggling with imaginary figures, were undermining the Government's credit and thus adding to the general unrest and even to unemployment.

"No Liar."

The National Socialists, the Minister continued, had no solution ready to hand, and if they were to take charge of affairs, they could only achieve their own complete discomfiture, because there was no other solution than the one proposed in the government's financial reform programme.

Shouting at the top of his voice to penetrate the noise of the opposition, Dr. Dietrich ended with the statement: "I am no liar. It is my task to lead the country out of the present financial bog and I will do it no matter what happens."

After a brief interval the House entered upon the debate on the Ministerial declaration, which provoked less stormy than had been expected and opened with a very reasoned speech by the Socialist leader and former Chancellor, Dr. Hermann Mueller, who intimated his party's readiness to support the Government in order to avoid a serious political and financial crisis.

The second speaker was the National Socialist Deputy, Herr Strasser, during whose discourse the Deputy-Speaker, Herr Stöcker, also a member of the National Socialist Party, took the chair. Herr Strasser started with the statement that the Cabinet was in imperfect contact with reality and proceeded to outline his party's demands, dismissing the idea of repudiating the Young Plan but insisting that the machinery for its revision, as provided for in the Young Plan, must be set into motion immediately.

Pogroms Unwanted.

Furthermore he vehemently denied that the National Socialists were contemplating anti-Semitic pogroms. Their aim, he declared, was merely to eliminate all Jews from the country's administration and judicial system. Explaining his party's attitude towards armaments, he said that while the former Allies persistently evaded their disarmament obligations as undertaken in the Versailles Treaty, Germany must needs perfect her own armaments and instead of maintaining universal conscription, but "nothing could be further from our thoughts and desires than war. We have been through it and abhor it."

Expressing himself so far extremely moderately, Herr Strasser, however, later warmed up to his subject and when in denouncing the materialist spirit pervading Germany he called the Minister of Defence, General Groener, a "traitor" he was called to order by his fellow National Socialist, Herr Stöcker, at which the House burst into applause.

According to present arrangements, the divisions on the non-confidence motions will probably take place on Saturday night and while the omens are still mixed, political quarters incline to the belief that the Cabinet will weather the storm and, with the contemplated adjournment of the Reichstag, will have secured a new lease of life.

AN EXCELLENT PROGRAMME.

The first of a series of concerts organized by the Helena May Institute was held yesterday, when the Hong Kong Orchestral Society presented a very enjoyable programme. There was a very large audience and those who attended were rewarded by hearing some excellent music by the string orchestra which was ably conducted by Mr. Frederick Mason, A.R.C.O. T.C.L., and by Mrs. Snowden Jones, Mrs. Portallion and Mrs. Shand, who assisted in a great measure in making the concert a success.

The selections played by Mrs. Shand on the piano and the vocal numbers of Mrs. Snowden Jones particularly appealed to the audience, and Mrs. Portallion's singing also was immensely enjoyed. The applause which greeted the end of each item amply testified to the popularity of the artists' efforts.

THREE YEARS AND THE "CAT."SEQUEL TO PILKEM STREET AFFRAY.*ONE ACCUSED DISCHARGED.

"This has been a wearisome case and I have pleasure in exempting you from further jury service for a period of two years," said Mr. Justice Jackson to the Jury at the close of the Criminal Sessions yesterday.

The trial concerned three Northern Chinese, Lok Shau, Lok Shau Sung and Wong Kyi Fuk, who were charged with wounding three others, Ma Ying Zai, Wong Shuen Cheong and Cheung Shuen Hing outside a motor-car repairing and painting shop in Pilkem Street, Kowloon, on the night of August 8.

Further evidence was given by the third accused from the witness-box when he denied that he was on the scene of the fight or that he was in possession of the iron bar in Court. He alleged that the witnesses for the prosecution were conspiring to have him sent to goal or banished.

A number of other witnesses were examined before the Jury retired for over half an hour to consider their verdict. They returned an unanimous verdict of guilty against the first and third accused. The second accused was found not guilty.

His Lordship ordered the discharge of the second accused (Lok Shau Sung), and addressing the other prisoners said that the Jury had listened to the case for three days during which they have patiently heard all the evidence that has been brought before the Court. His Lordship asked if the prisoners had anything to say why sentence should not be passed.

First accused: Since the Jury have found me guilty I have nothing to say except that I am innocent.

Third accused: I am innocent. I never used the iron bar.

Remarking that they have been found guilty of a very serious offence where grievous injuries had been caused, his Lordship passed sentences of three years' imprisonment with hard labour and 12 strokes of the "cat" in the case of each prisoner.

TOW-BOAT PIRATED.TWENTY PASSENGERS CARRIED OFF.

According to a Canton report, over twenty passengers on board the tow-boat Kung Yik were kidnapped when the vessel was held up by pirates while on its way to Macao from Chungshan district, on the evening of the 14th instant.

When the vessel arrived near Sha Chung, two pirate vessels appeared. Meanwhile seven men among the passengers produced revolvers and ordered the tow-boat to stop. The two pirate vessels came up and the pirates boarded the tow-boat, and the crew and guards, being greatly outnumbered, were overpowered. The marauders then ransacked the vessel and carried off with them over twenty passengers.

THE SUPPRESSION OF SMUGGLING.MR. MAZE ARRIVES TO RESUME DISCUSSIONS.

Mr. F. W. Maze, Inspector-General of the Chinese Maritime Customs, arrived in the Colony on the R.M.S. Empress of Canada yesterday. According to current reports, the object of his visit is to resume negotiations with the local authorities regarding the establishment of Maritime Customs Stations to check smuggling from the Colony into Chinese territory.

It has been stated that if satisfactory arrangements are arrived at the illicit traffic from Hong Kong to Canton and other Kwangtung ports, which has developed enormous proportions since the introduction of the new tariffs last year, will be eliminated at the source, thereby securing a considerable increase in the legitimate Customs revenue for the southern ports.

Mr. Maze will meet with the Customs Commissioner for the Kowloon District. He will stay here for a few days after which he will proceed to Canton.

FIRE-CRACKER EXPLOSION.FACTORY MANAGER FINED.

Chun Lap Fong, manager of the Kwong Man Loong cracker factory at 130, Des Vaux Road Central, and Wong Yat, a foreman, were yesterday summoned before Mr. H. R. Butters for manufacturing crackers in a place other than a factory. Cheung Ili and Pun Yat, two women, were charged with manufacturing crackers in No. 604, Reclamation Street contrary to law, the premises not being a factory.

In connection with this case it will be recalled that on the 6th instant, Mr. Butters conducted an inquiry into the death of a six-year-old girl, who died as a result of burns caused by the explosion of five crackers at 604, Reclamation Street on September 25. On that occasion evidence was given that the crackers were supplied by the manager of the Kwong Man Loong cracker factory to the two women for the purpose of inserting fuses. The deceased girl, it was stated, ignited a fuse when the women were out of sight and caused the explosion.

Mr. M. K. Lo, for the manager of the factory, entered a plea of guilty. He explained that his client was genuinely sorry over the unfortunate death of the girl. The Kwong Man Loong firm had been doing business for 20 years in Hong Kong without having had an accident. In April of this year the manager was warned not to send out crackers to be finished by workers outside the factory. Since that warning the firm had not continued the practice but the firm was unable to effect the return of the crackers which they had already sent out to the two women charged in the present case. Efforts were made to trace the women but they had left the Colony. Mr. Lo said that his client had promised not to send out any crackers to be finished in future and in view of the circumstances he would ask his Worship to take a lenient view of the case.

His Worship pointed out that Mr. Lo's client had committed a breach of the Ordinance and it was more or less a serious matter, but in view of the facts explained by Mr. Lo he was prepared to take a less serious view. He made it clear that if the defendant was before the Court again on a case of the same nature, his Worship would not hesitate to pass the maximum sentence.

The manager of the factory was fined $100, the foreman $50 and the two women $10 each.

AMATEUR DRAMATICS AT KOWLOON.TONIGHT'S ENTERTAINMENT.

Members of St. Andrew's Club are presenting two humorous sketches this evening in St. Andrew's Church Hall, Kowloon, at 9 p.m. The first is a one-act sketch by A. A. Milne entitled "The Boy Comes Home." Those taking part are: Philip (The Boy), played by Reginald Woolley, Uncle James, taken by S. A. Sweet, Aunt Emily by Phillips Woolley, and Marjorie White and Rita Cole represent Mary (the Maid) and Mrs. Higgins (the Cook) respectively.

The other production is "The Crimson Coconut" by Ian Hay. This is an absurdity and full of laughs from beginning to end. Robert, the waiter, which is the leading rôle, is ably taken by J. W. Baldwin, while two anarchists who also help with the fun-making are Niko Glicerinski (Richard Wong) and Madame Glicerinski (Maud White). Anthony Cole is the C.I.D. representative, Jack Pincher and Norman Mackay and Rita Cole take the parts of Mr. Jabstick and his daughter Nancy.

Other items included in the programme are a piano solo by Miss C. W. Liddon-Cole, songs at the piano by Miss McGill, and monologues by Mr. S. A. Sweet.

PRISON OUTRAGE.OFFICIAL REPORT ISSUED.*VICTIM'S CONDITION STILL SERIOUS.

The official report regarding the stabbing affray at Victoria Gaol has now been released to the Press. It states:—"At 10.15 a.m. while Acting Principal Warden No. 63 Bert Plumb was mustering 28 prisoners for sick parade and punishment parade, in the main hall at Victoria Gaol, Prisoner No. 1614, Chui Sui Chung, who had fallen in for medical inspection as to his fitness for receiving a whipping, drew a file dagger and stabbed him from behind: once in the back behind the left shoulder blade, and once in the right shoulder near the collar bone.

"Acting Principal Warden Plumb went direct to the Gaol Hospital from where he was removed to the Government Civil Hospital.

"Prisoner No. 161 returned to his cell, No. 34 in F. 2 Ward, nearby, where he was found by A.P.P.O. Cressey immediately after the occurrence. On opening the cell A.P.P.O. Cressey was handed the file dagger by the prisoner, who had been confined to his cell as a punishment for breaches of prison discipline since the 15th instant.

"The Medical Officer in charge of the Government Civil Hospital reports the condition of Acting Principal Warden Plumb as very serious."

Condition Still Serious.

An inquiry at the Hospital yesterday afternoon elicited the news that warden Plumb was slightly better than he was yesterday, but was still not out of danger.

The assailant will be charged before the Central Magistrate this morning.

FAMOUS ACTRESS MURDERED.BRUTAL CRIME IN CANTON.

A brutal murder of a famous actress occurred in Honan, Canton, on Tuesday evening. The murderer decamped with jewels and ornaments to the value of over $5,000.

Tsui Yuk King, the deceased, was a noted actress in Canton and had but recently returned from the United States, where she is said to have amassed a huge fortune. She went out on Tuesday evening and was found lying dead at Fook Cheung Street the next morning. It is stated that she was killed with some blunt instrument.

It is suspected that robbery was the motive as all her jewels and gold ornaments were missing. These consisted of a diamond ring, a pair of rare jade bangles, a pair of diamond ear-rings, a gold watch with chain and a ring inlaid with precious stones.

The police are investigating the matter.

THEFT FROM BARRACKS.CHINESE FALLS INTO TRAP.

A Chinese, stated to be a newspaper deliverer, was brought before Mr. R. E. Lindsell at the Central Magistracy yesterday on a charge of stealing $3.34 from L/C J. Williams of the Somerset Light Infantry, stationed at Mount Austin Barracks.

The facts of the case, as outlined by Sub-Inspector S. Logan, were that there had been quite a lot of money stolen from the barracks, and the soldiers there suspected the accused. A trap was laid to catch him and L/C Williams put $3.34 in his cupboard inside his room. The accused came up to the barracks to deliver a newspaper, and seeing nobody about entered L/C Williams' room, and searched the cupboard. A soldier who had been specially stationed to watch the barracks caught him and found the $3.34 in his right hand pocket.

His Worship passed sentence of two months' hard labour.

SHANGHAI JOCKEY KIDNAPPED.ABDUCTED ON WAY TO RACE COURSE.*SHOT FIRED INTO MOTOR TYRE.

Mr. C. Z. Chow, a sergeant in the Chinese Company S.V.C., son of a wealthy property owner in Shanghai, and a rider at Kiangwan, was kidnapped shortly after six a.m. last Saturday on the Kiangwan Road as he was going to the race course for the usual morning training. The kidnapping is distinctive inasmuch as officials are of the opinion that the gang had made their preparations for weeks past, going so far as to have a letter to the relatives already prepared.

Mr. Chow and Mr. B. B. Ozario, the latter of Messrs. Arnold and Co. have been in the custom of going together to the race course. On Saturday morning, as usual, the victim went with his car to 74 Dixwell Road to pick up his friend.

Forced to Stop.

While proceeding along Kiangwan Road more than a mile, beyond the Settlement boundaries, according to Mr. Ozario, they noticed a large car, a Studebaker or Buick type, zigzagging very slowly across the road so that they could not pass. Finally the car stopped and they were forced to stop. From somewhere behind three men rushed up and surrounded the Morris car in which Mr. Chow was riding.

Two others alighted from the car in front, armed with pistols, and forced Mr. Chow and the chauffeur to get out. While one man with a pistol stood guard over Mr. Ozario, another fired two shots into a tyre of the Morris. The kidnappers' car then drove off. A large number of coolies employed upon the construction of a building witnessed the affair but neither they or Mr. Ozario noticed the number of the car.

The kidnappers, after piling their victim into their car, forced him to read a newspaper as they drove off. They also forced the chauffeur to wear a pair of glasses, the lenses of which had been covered with paper.

Lost Sight Of.

Driving off toward Chapei the car was lost from sight. The gang duped the chauffeur off, their car having proceeded a mile or more. The chauffeur returned to the scene, repaired the tyre, and he and Mr. Ozario reported the matter to Dixwell Road police station.

It is expected that the kidnappers, having taken their victims to a dive in Chapei, will communicate with Mr. Chow's father.

CHURCH CRITICISM.[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS"]

Sir,—I have noticed with regret a somewhat acrimonious correspondence in recent issues of your paper with regard to St. John's Cathedral.

As an old resident, and one who for many years, until recently, was closely associated with Church work in the Colony, may I suggest that if your correspondents have the work of the Church at heart, a better and, I think, a fairer course to pursue than writing to the Press under noms de plumes would be to join the electoral roll of either the Cathedral or one of the other churches in the Colony, when they would have ample opportunity of making any criticisms they may wish to raise known to the clergy and the conduct of the services.—Yours, etc.

MISSING YOUTH RETURNS.RUSSIAN BOY BELIEVED DROWNED COMES BACK.*ONE OF TSINGTAO TRIP TRIO.

Missing for 48 days and presumed drowned in a whirlpool on the Whangpoo River, eight years-old Vladimir Loukowsky has returned to his home in Shanghai, looking bronzed and fit. Vladimir was one of the trio of youthful Russians who intended to make a trip to Tsingtao in a sampan.

The trio, under the leadership of 19 years-old Vadim Gravitsky, went down near the Pome for a swim when their sampan trip proved unsuccessful. Vadim's story regarding the bathos was a tissue of falsehoods, it is understood: The three left the river bank happily and safely, but after proceeding a short distance on the road back to Shanghai there was a disagreement between them. Vadim wanted the trio to become beggars, but Vladimir had other ideas, and he parted from them.

Living in Fields.

Vladimir says that he lived in the fields, sleeping under trees, for the whole period, and only returned home because the colder weather was setting in. He claims that he lived on apples, peas and anything he could find growing in the fields. He managed to acquire a jacket and a pair of Chinese trousers. Speaking Chinese well, Vladimir claims that he had no trouble with the natives of the Woosung district.

Police circles, however, consider that Vladimir in all probability spent most of the 48 days aboard a Chinese junk sailing out of Shanghai. His bronzed and fit condition testify more to a life at sea than to a semi-furtive existence in the fields on an unusual diet.

What led Vadim Gravitsky, the "captain" of the trio, to testify that Vladimir was sucked under by a whirlpool on the river is not known. He further told this story to Vladimir's mother and said "I am sorry to tell you this." Actually Vadim's original story fits in with that of Vladimir quite well. It is suggested Vladimir's prolonged absence led Vadim to tell a story which would appear plausible and at the same time put an end to the episode.

ALLEGED HARBOURING.PROSECUTION BY S.C.A.

When a case in which a Chinese woman was charged with harbouring two young girls and a small boy was mentioned before Mr. E. H. Williams at the Central Magistracy yesterday, it was stated that the accused was in the Government Civil Hospital suffering from typhoid fever and could not stand her trial.

Outlining the case for the prosecution, Mr. S. Jenyns of the S.C.A., said that the two girls and the small boy went to the S.C.A. on October 1 and said they were to be taken to Singapore by the defendant, on board the s.s. Takada. In an interview with the Immigration Officer, the defendant was alleged to have claimed that one of the girls and the small boy were her children while the other girl was being taken to join her husband.

The small girl and the boy, continued Mr. Jenyns, were kidnapped by the bandits in Shui Tong Village, Tsi Ngum on July 4 and were afterwards sold to the defendant for $300. She took them back to her own village in Lam Chui On, knowing that they had been kidnapped.

As regards the other girl, she ran away from her husband because, as she alleged, of his cruelty. She intended to come to Hong Kong to find work, but met the defendant on the way, and was taken to the village. There the defendant tried to sell her but failed, and she then ran away. She intended to join a steamer which would take them to Singapore.

The case was adjourned sine die.

JOHN BULL AND THE JEWS.

THIRTEEN years ago Mr. A. J. Balfour pledged Great Britain's support for "the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people." At that time the territory formed part of the Turkish Empire; but in 1918 it was brought under British Military Administration, which continued until a Civil Administration was established in 1920. Two years later Palestine was placed under British administration as mandated territory, and as such it remains under John Bull's control, much to his embarrassment and expense. Before the pledge given to the Jews about helping them to establish a national home, Britain had also given a promise to the Arabs of Asiatic Turkey to support the establishment of national governments and administrations "deriving their authority from the initiative and free choice of the indigenous populations." Whether Mr. Balfour had forgotten this earlier pledge when he promised to help the Jewish people to establish a national home is not known, but his action gave as much dissatisfaction to the Arabs as it gave satisfaction to the Jews; and there has been trouble in Palestine ever since.

The steadily increasing dominance of Jewish interests has been the cause of constant protest by the Arabs—protests which have taken such a form as to necessitate the maintenance by Great Britain of strong military forces in the country. The Jewish settlers in Palestine have increased rapidly since the Balfour Declaration of 1917, and they have done much excellent work in establishing and developing agricultural settlements. Thousands of young men and women from various countries have gone to Palestine and shown great energy and enterprise in building up new Jewish settlements. Unfortunately, the more progress they made, the more jealous and discontented the Arab population became. Friction has been continued, and increasing seriousness, especially since the Arabs came to the conclusion that, if they made themselves sufficiently aggravating, Britain would hand over Palestine as she has handed back Egypt. Now comes an outbreak of Jewish indignation—apparently due to the same forgetfulness of which Mr. Balfour was guilty—an overlooking of the fact that the Arabs have rights guaranteed them in Palestine as well as the Jews.

At the moment it is difficult to see what particular grievance the Jewish people can have against JOHN BULL, who has taken upon his shoulders a most thankless task. Arabs and Jews alike complain of grave injustice—which may be regarded as negative proof of impartiality on the part of the British Administration. The Arab case is not likely to get the publicity secured by the Jews in airing their grievances, but from the White Paper just issued in London it is quite evident that they have cause for complaint. An American clergyman advises the Arabs to follow the example of the Indian people and adopt a policy of passive resistance to British authority. Influential Zionists are urging their compatriots in Palestine to do the same thing. The British Government appeals to Jewish and Arab leaders for co-operation, and hopes they will modify their views and so escape drifting into a position which will imperil the interests of both parties. It certainly would—especially if JOHN BULL decided to retire from the scene, leaving the quarrelsome couple to settle their differences as best they can.

IMPECUNIOUS FISH.

The Editor of the China Mail has been kind enough to quote a few sentences from a recent editorial appearing in those columns, describing them as "extremely illuminating," with which opinion we modestly agree. Having reproduced them, however, he asks:—"Was over criticism more fatuous?" to which we promptly reply to him:—"Yes, your own!" So far as we have been able to follow the China Mail in its benighted comment, objection is taken—on the ground of inconsistency—to the view expressed in our columns that a marine aquarium is an addition to the amenities of this Colony which is not urgently needed. So far as it is at all possible to understand our rather incoherent contemporary, we are charged with (1) approving of low living and high thinking, but (2) cynically disapproving "a real constructive contribution" toward realization of the simple life. Let us, then, endeavour to make the position quite plain to our obfuscated censor.

During the recent debate in the Legislative Council on the Estimates for 1931, Mr. J. P. BRAGA submitted a suggestion for adding to the amenities of Kowloon, alleged to be fast growing into not only a large, but a beautiful, city. The proposal was that a marine aquarium be built, and among the benefits said to accrue from such an institution were (1) its educational value, (2) political value. Mr. BRAGA quoted the opinion of an expert on fishery to the effect that, in a community of mixed nationalities, a good aquarium is of great assistance in municipal organisation and in maintaining public peace and order.

It is far more easy to control a people who are able to satisfy, by proper means, their natural desire for recreation and amusement. Now, if we understand aright this expert on piscatorial affairs, it is his opinion that people who have the opportunity of visiting an aquarium are consequently less likely to stay at home reading the works of KARL MARX, BERNARD SHAW, and other similarly disturbing writers on social problems. In a community where human interests are so diverse, owing to the large number of nationalities brought into close contact, gazing through glass at fish and sea creatures in a tank is assumed to have a soothing effect upon the most unruly and discontented observer.

Our comment a few days ago upon this strange theory was really very restrained. We admitted that a marine aquarium, as such, might be an excellent thing, but pointed out there were many much more urgent matters waiting to be dealt with. "A few more years may well be allowed to roll before poor fish in glass tanks are given the doubtful pleasure of looking at a procession of equally unhappy creatures passing by their windows." And for saying this we are charged with inconsistency—with approving the simple life but disapproving "its cultivation"—with approving of "low living and high thinking," but cynically disapproving of "a real constructive contribution toward its realisation." To all this we need only say that people whose dissatisfaction with existing social conditions can be dispelled by staring into the murky recesses of a marine aquarium must be themselves impoverished specimens of a piscatorial species.

Captain Sir Burton Chudwick, M.P., R.N.R., deputy-master, presided at the fifth ordinary general meeting of the Honourable Company of Master Mariners which was held at Trinity House last month. He said that the Company had maintained the ratio of remarkable progress with which it had been blessed each year since its incorporation. The outstanding event since last annual meeting was the approval of His Majesty to the granting to the Company of a Royal Charter. This placed the Company among what he called the corporate aristocracy of the country. An extraordinary general meeting passed a resolution that the Company be wound up voluntarily in view of the issue of Letters Patent under the Great Seal containing a grant of a Charter of Incorporation.

In view of the growth of the reactionary Lappo movement in Finland and the organ of the Agrarian Party has now come forward with a strongly-worded declaration to the effect that all attempts to institute a Dictatorship would meet with the strongest opposition from the Agrarian Party, which would organise its adherents throughout the country to resist any unconstitutional régime. In such circumstances, the paper points out, the Dictatorship would hardly find the troops ready to subdue the opposition by force of arms.

Having returned to Portsmouth from China, the aircraft Hornes went to Sheerness and Chatham to recommission for further service in the Far East. Of the three flights of aircraft in the Hornes, No. 403 (Fleet Fighter) Flight and No. 440 (Fleet Spotter Reconnaissance) Flight will recommission with the ship and go out again. No. 442 (Fleet Spotter Reconnaissance) Flight will remain in England. The Hornes is the smallest of the six British aircraft-carriers, but is the only one designed specially for this duty. Captain J. The statement in a letter to The Times that "All Europeans and peoples of the East today know the meaning of 'dollar'" is questioned by Admiral Sir Lewis Bayly, who relates the following—rather old story in a new guise:—Last autumn, when at Hong Kong, an American and his wife went into a Chinese silk shop and bought a considerable quantity of silk. They asked the price; it was $120. Thinking this to be too much, they dealt the Chinaman down to $100, and went away delighted at their clever bargain. But they were not nearly so delighted as the Chinaman, who had been fixing his price in Mexican dollars—25—the universal dollar in the East, while the Americans had paid him in U.S.A. dollars.

The value of trade missions was emphasised by Sir Edward Crowe, Comptroller-General of the Department of Overseas Trade, addressing the autumnal meeting of the Association of British Chambers of Commerce at Birmingham last month. Consequent upon two seizures of illicit opium at the Kowloon Canton Railway Station on Wednesday, two Chinese were charged before Mr. Butters at the Kowloon Magistracy with possession of the drug. In the first case, the man, who had 105 taels of raw opium tied to his legs, was fined $3,150 or nine months' hard labour. Forty taels of raw opium were found on the person of the other defendant, who was fined $1,900 or six months' hard labour.

Before Mr. B. E. Lindsay yesterday, a young Chinese woman was charged with the unlawful possession of 60 taels of raw opium at the Ping On Wharf. She told the Court that she was promised $1 for carrying the drug. R.O. CHRISTIAN MARSHAL
CHIANG KAI SHEK.*BAPTISED AT SHANGHAI
YESTERDAY.*[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

SHANGHAI, Oct. 23.
Chiang Kai Shek was baptised as a Christian this afternoon.

Simple Ceremony.

LATER.
Chiang Kai Shek and Madame Chiang Kai Shek arrived from Nanking early this morning and proceeded to the residence of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Soong, in Seymour Road, in the International Settlement, where the simple ceremony was performed this afternoon by the Rev. Z. T. Kuang, Chinese pastor of the Young Allen Memorial Church, Shanghai, in the presence of a few intimate friends, including his wife and brothers-in-law, Mr. T. V. Soong, Finance Minister, and Mr. T. L. Soong, Chairman of the Whangpoo Conservancy Board, and also Dr. C. T. Wang, Foreign Minister, who are all Christians.

Pastor Kuang asked Marshal Chiang Kai Shek whether he sincerely desired to become a Christian, and the President replied in firm tones in the affirmative.

Pastor Kuang then sprinkled water over and welcomed the President to the Christian Church.

It is noteworthy that Mrs. Soong's sons-in-law include Dr. Sun Yat Sen and Dr. H. H. Kung, Minister of Commerce and Industry, and that the Soong family are all Christians.

The baptism, which was kept a profound secret, has startled Shanghai and Nanking, as there was not the slightest knowledge of Chiang Kai Shek's intentions outside the family circle.

Coming at a time when Chiang Kai Shek, after a hard-fought campaign in which more than once he seemed doomed to defeat only to emerge victorious as the head of the National Government, the President's baptism is a striking blow to the Communists, who are at present hunting down Christians in Kiangsi and elsewhere in the Yangtze Valley, and is likely to form a striking precedent with far-reaching effect on the future government of China.

Chiang Kai Shek has joined the Methodist denomination.

NEW CONSTITUTION IN EGYPT.*POPULAR REPRESENTATION
MODIFIED.*[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

CAIRO, Oct. 22.
King Fuad has signed the new Constitution and Electoral Law drawn up by the Provisional Cabinet.

The Cabinet, in the course of a Report on these enactments, recommends that the Chamber of Deputies shall consist of 160 instead of 235 members, and that three-fifths of the members of the Senate be appointed and the remaining two-fifths elected.

It is also recommended that each Parliamentary Session shall be for a period of five months, instead of six months.

Parliamentary immunity is to be raised in the case of libel and lese majeste.

Voters must be 25 years of age. Neither the Senate nor the Chamber will be empowered to initiate financial laws.

The King is to appoint Moslem religious chiefs.

Press laws are to be tightened up. The election of Parliament will be by a two-stage system, under which every 50 electors will be represented by an elector-delegate. The elector-delegates, sitting as an Electoral College, will elect all Deputies.

KIANFU MISSIONARY

ALSO IN CAPTIVITY.*[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

PEIPING, Oct. 23.
It is learned that, in addition to the Chinese and foreign priests and nuns already reported, eight Chinese priests are in the hands of the Communists at Kianfu.

The French Legation has instructed the Consul-General at Nanking to make representations to the Central Government for the release of the captives.

The French Consul at Hankow has made representations to the Kiangsi authorities.

R.101 DISASTER INQUIRY.SIR JOHN SIMON TO SIT WITH TWO ASSESSORS.*[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Oct. 22.
The public court of enquiry into the R.101 disaster will consist of Sir John Simon, sitting with two assessors, Lieut.-Colonel Moore-Brabazon, and Professor C. E. Inglis.

The first sitting will probably be next week.

The Court may compel the production of any evidence bearing on the subject.

[Lieut.-Colonel J. T. C. Moore-Brabazon, of Tara Hall, Co. Meath, is a pioneer motorist and aviator, and won the Daily Mail £1,000 prize in 1909 for flying a circular mile on an all-British-made machine. Lieut.-Colonel Moore-Brabazon was the first Briton actually to fly. He was Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister of Transport from 1923-24.]

Professor Charles Edward Inglis, O.B.E., M.I.C.E., is Professor of Mechanism and Applied Mechanics at Cambridge University. In 1901 he was assistant to Sir John Wolfe Barry and assisted in the Engineering School at Cambridge under Sir J. A. Ewing. He was the inventor and constructor of bridges used during the War.]

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

It is announced from Downing Street tonight that it is the desire of the Government and the Air Ministry that an enquiry into the loss of the R.101 should be a public inquiry carried out by an independent Court with full powers to take evidence on oath.

They have accordingly approached Sir John Simon and he has consented to conduct an investigation.

In addition, Lieut.-Colonel Moore-Brabazon, who used to sit in the House of Commons and took great interest in air matters, and Professor Inglis, Professor of Mechanism and Applied Mechanics at Cambridge University, have been approached to act as assessors and assist Sir John Simon with their practical and technical knowledge during the inquiry.

It is expected that the Court will have its first sitting next week.

AMERICA'S POLICY IN BRAZIL.COMPETING FOR TRADE WITH GREAT BRITAIN.[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.
At the request of the Brazilian Government, President Hoover has placed an embargo on the shipment of war munitions and equipment to Brazil, except under special licences to be issued by the State Department.

The United States' policy in reference to Brazil, still in the throes of civil war, is being very closely followed by Latin-American countries, where it is believed that the United States is making a definite bid for the Brazilian trade in competition with Great Britain.

BRITISH RAILWAY

RUGBY, Oct. 22.
An interesting development in railway operating methods is announced by the Great Western Railway, which proposes to equip 1,700 miles of track, embracing all its principal main line routes, and 2,000 engines with its own system of automatic train control.

The system gives audible warning to the engine-driver of the state of the signal, and, in the event of a danger signal being passed, automatically pulls up the train before it reaches the next signal.

Railway Extension Scheme At Southampton.

Work is to begin at once on the further enlargement of the Southern Railway extension scheme at Southampton Docks, under which some 3,500 feet of deep water quays, suitable for the accommodation of vessels of forty-foot draft, together with cranes, sheds, railways and all modern accessories, are to be constructed, at an estimated cost of £3,000,000.

The work will take about five years to complete.

The Government has agreed to give financial help under the Development Loans, Guarantees and Grants Act.

The scheme also includes the reclamation of about 200 acres of mudland.

MUCH ADO ABOUT

ARREST OF WOMAN.*(From Our Own Correspondent.)

SHANGHAI, Oct. 23.
An unpaid $10 pharmacy account was responsible for an extraordinary chain of events.

Mrs. Baransen, a Russian pharmacist, recently visited a Mrs. Anderson, an American woman, at her flat, to collect an account, when Mr. Anderson ejected her. She charged Mrs. Anderson with assault and battery.

When the case was resumed on Wednesday Mrs. Anderson failed to appear, and it is believed that she has gone to Japan. In the meantime, judgment by default was entered against her in two civil suits involving monies lent and secured by a mortgage on the same furniture to different parties.

A fresh warrant was issued for the arrest of Mrs. Anderson and her bail was doubled.

The case has caused a sensation in local circles.

EMPIRE CONFERENCEECONOMIC BASIS OF GREAT BRITAIN'S FISCAL POLICY.*[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

RUGBY, Oct. 22.
The South African Premier, General Hertzog, broadcasting tonight on the work of the Imperial Conference, said that although the work being done in the field of economic co-operation was attracting much notice, other work of the very greatest importance and significance was also being accomplished and the problems resolved.

The Constitutional questions bequeathed by the 1926 Imperial Conference were being dealt with in a manner and a spirit which entitled the delegates to feel confident that the present Imperial Conference would, in every respect, remain true to the spirit of its predecessor and attain a no less happy result for the future.

Economic Needs of Dominions.

Whereas at the previous Conference the constitutional needs of the Commonwealth demanded a readjustment of the constitutional principle to the constitutional development, at the present Conference it was a readjustment of the economic basis of Great Britain's fiscal policy in harmony with the economic needs of the various member States, herself included, that was involved. The new problem was certainly no less difficult of solution.

Revolution in Fiscal Practice.

If, therefore, the present Conference should eventually prove less fruitful in its economic labours than individual requirements had led them to hope, it should not be forgotten that what was expected from Great Britain in order to meet the Dominion requirements, and also her own, was hardly less than a revolution in fiscal practice, no less than in economic theory.

No Complaints.

Should she, therefore, tell them that a change involving such fundamental national issues could not be decided till after close and mature consideration, South Africa would have no reason to complain.

Conflict Between Free Trade and Protection.

While it must be clear to everybody that once more the conflict between Free Trade and Protection for Great Britain had to be decided, and that upon the decision taken must to a large extent depend the economic policy which in future would obtain within the Commonwealth, they in the Dominions, whatever that decision might be, and however much they might thereby eventually feel themselves disappointed, would have no ground to quarrel with anybody.

Work of Committees.

Many of the numerous subjects on the agenda of the Imperial Conference are now being dealt with by Committees formed to examine them in detail. The next meeting of the heads of the delegations will be held when reports are available for their consideration and this is unlikely to be the case before next week.

IN NORWAY.LABOUR FORMS THE LARGEST PARTY.[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

OSLO, Oct. 23.
In spite of the loss of 12 seats in Monday's general elections, Labour remains the largest party in the new Parliament, which is composed of 47 Labourites, 44 Conservatives and Liberals, 33 Radicals and 23 Agrarians.

A feature of the elections was the Labourites' bid for power with a programme of a capital levy, complete disarmament and nationalisation of banks.

With a slightly less Sovietic attitude they gained a striking success at the polls in 1927, and formed a Government which lasted only a fortnight. The other three parties have since combined to keep them in check.

It is noteworthy that the Communists, who had three seats in the last Parliament, now have none.

TRADE AGREEMENTS WITH

BEST TYPE OF TARIFF.*[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

RUGBY, Oct. 23.
The President of the Federation of British Industries has set up two committees, one of which will consider the type of tariff which can best meet the situation and the best methods of arriving at reciprocal trade agreements with the Dominions, while the other committee will elucidate the comparative industrial policy.

21 HOURS PER WEEK IN
"PETTING."*HOW YOUNG MEN SPEND THEIR TIME.

Roughly 30 out of 100 young men in various cities in America canvassed by Mr. A. E. Wolf, boy director at the Lincoln, Nebraska, Y.M.C.A., spend an average of a little more than an hour a day in the company of girls and 24 hours per week in courtship.

Mr. Wolf, who is writing a thesis for his master's degree at the State University on "How Young Men Spend Their Time," sent questionnaires to scores of young men and received answers from 102, which he has tabulated. All those canvassed were between eighteen and twenty-five and were working. No students were questioned.

Films and Girls.

Girls play an important part in young men's lives, judging by the answers. Twenty-two of those replying admitted being engaged.

It was found that 65.35 per cent. go to the films each week with a girl, 60.37 per cent. visit a girl's home, 59.61 per cent. go motoring, 53.84 per cent. go to dances, and 33.65 per cent. attend church with a girl.

The young men themselves requested a report on how much time other young men spent in courting. A table prepared from answers on hours per week spent in a girl's company shows also the average number of hours spent in the following activities:

Films, 2.68 hours; at girl's home, 2.87; motoring, 2.94; dancing, 2.97; eating, 1.54; courtship, 2.97; cards, 1.24; church, 1.87; walking, 1.65; athletics, 3.33; play, 1.63.

To-day, the Committee on economic co-operation had a general preliminary discussion on the work of the Empire Marketing Board with a view to making suggestions regarding its future development. A Sub-Committee is engaged on an examination of statistics regarding the United Kingdom's wheat consumption and wheat production within the Empire.

The Arbitration and Disarmament Committee has concluded its discussion of the general Act, and although discussion of the actual draft convention remains to be continued, the Committee hopes to finish the subjects before it by the week-end and to begin the preparation of its report.

The Committee on overseas settlement held its first sitting.

BRITISH POLICY IN PALESTINE.IMPRESSIONS OF AMERICAN JEWRY.[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.
Every reference to the British Empire and to the British Labour Government was greeted with "boos" and catcalls at a noisy meeting of protest against the British Government's statement of policy regarding Palestine, fully outlined two days ago.

The principal speaker was Dr. John Haynes Holmes, the Pastor of Community Church, New York, who is well-known for his anti-British writings and sermons, and who is known to be closely associated with Indian extremists in the United States.

It is significant that he aroused enthusiasm when he urged the Arabs of Palestine to follow Gandhi's example and to follow a campaign of passive resistance against the British.

Press Comment.

The New York Times, whose owner is the pillar of American Jewry, has adopted a sympathetic tone towards Great Britain in connection with its statement of policy.

The Journal asserts that the claims of British Zionism were always inadmissible and justice could never tolerate the imposition of Jewish ascendancy in Palestine by high pressure methods.

The Herald-Tribune says that Britain is now reaping an unpleasant harvest of her over-generous promises during the war.

Jewish National Council's Decision.

JERUSALEM, Oct. 23.
The Jewish National Council held an eight-hour meeting.

It is understood that it was unanimously decided to despatch a statement to the Government declining to participate in the new Legislative Council or to have any share in parliamentary institutions on the ground that they are calculated to arrest the establishment of a Jewish national home.

According to the local Press, all sections of Jewry are adhering to the above decision.

RUGBY, Oct. 23.
The Home Secretary (Mr. J. R. Clynes) and the President of the Board of Trade (Mr. W. Graham) in Manchester yesterday, interviewed, said that each section of the cotton industry in Manchester had received impressive assurances of willingness to co-operate in whole-sale marketing and in carrying out any scheme which would add to the efficiency of the industry and increase its world competitive policy.

ALSDORF MINE DISASTER.*DEATH-ROLL TWO HUNDRED

COLOGNE, Oct. 23.
The death-roll of the Alsdorf mine disaster is now 248, not including the injured who have died in hospital.

It is believed that there are 60 still under the pithead.

The Communists are profiting by the unrest among the mine workers to organise demonstrations and strikes.

CHRISTMAS FUN-AND FURY.*JOKES WHICH MAY NOT MAKE YOU LAUGH.

There are many little devices of an exorcising and playful malice, which appear in the toyshops in the month of the approaching Christmas, designed expressly for those who wish to revenge themselves on their guests.

The Jokes Manager of the biggest toy and magic shop in London recently introduced a Press representative to this year's Christmas jokes, just coming into stock.

If such a collection of jokes were accidentally rediscovered a thousand years from now the English people of the twentieth century would go down in history as a race unparalleled for its ingenuity of malice, refinements of torture, and eccentric treatment of guests.

Water Into Ink.

"Here is a very popular little article," said the Jokes Manager. "As you see, a simple tablet of soap. Pink. Pleasant perfume. But once immersed in the bath, it turns the water to ink. Greatly in demand at house parties."

"Now, these tins of biscuits. Ordinary wafer sandwiches, with a thin layer of cream between. The joke is that the cream is really flannelette. An excellent diversion, served with ice-cream."

"All the spoons and forks in these cases are collapsible. It is impossible to eat with them. A meal is a great success, laid entirely with these, and also with our special dribbling goblets. These are, as you see, apparently ordinary wine glasses, but in the pattern near the rim are tiny holes, allowing the liquid to trickle through on to the table and clothes before it can reach the mouth."

Screaming Cushions.

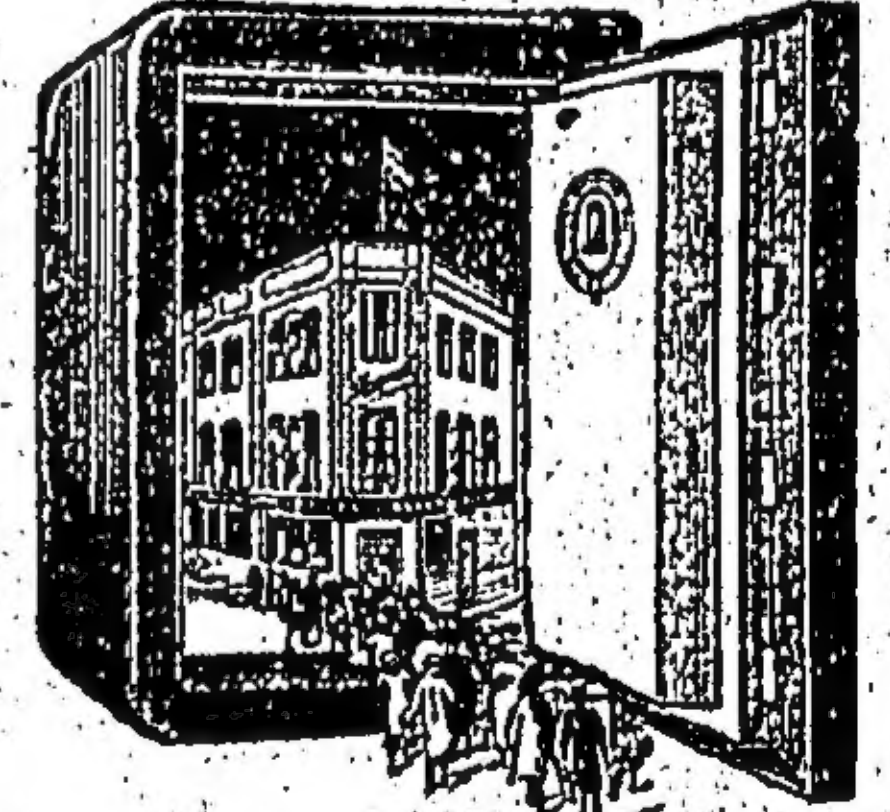

Nor was this all. There were clothes-pegs of inflated rubber that bent as softly as a snail's horn, and would not hold one's coat. There were cushions that screamed if you leaned against them; Gruyere cheese and delicious chocolates that turned to soap in the mouth, sugar almonds filled with cayenne pepper; and novels out of which hissing serpents shot when you opened them.

Everything is designed to persuade the guest that he is mad, or the victim of a malignantly persecuting poltergeist.

The cigarettes vibrate sinisterly when touched; the matches rattle like a rattlesnake; the clothes-brush whistles a tune when you brush your hat; and all the food either explodes, froths in the mouth, or is made of rubber.

Is Christmas a jolly season?

ROYAL WORCESTER. PORCELAIN WORKS' NEW OWNER.

Mr. J. Harrison, of Crown Ducal Works, Tunstall, Staffordshire has acquired Worcester Royal Porcelain Works. The works have been carried on for 100 years, and have produced ware of the highest artistic value, which enjoy worldwide fame. They employ nearly 300 hands. Some weeks ago the Receiver took possession for the debenture-holders. The manufacture of china at Worcester was started by Dr. Wall, in 1871, to alleviate the distress caused by the decay of the cloth trade of the city. Dr. Wall soon developed the ware on original lines, and for the first twenty years produced pieces under the influence of Chinese blue and white. These are now much sought after by collectors.

Mr. Harrison, who has been in the porcelain business for many years, has passed to Thomas Wright and his sons, who have their production on those of Sèvres and Meissen.

FORTUNES SWAY IN BRAZILIAN WAR.

GOVERNMENT AND REBELS CLAIM SUCCESSES.

Rio de Janeiro, Oct. 17.—The Government has decided to take action in the states of Pernambuco and Espirito Santo to cope with the development of the rebellion there. New Governors of these states will be appointed, who will receive instructions direct from the Minister of the Interior.

Official news emanating from the fighting zone indicates that in Las Minas Gornas the Federals have advanced and occupied the towns of Guaranesia and Quaxupé. On the Sao Paulo and Parana fronts an attack by the rebels was repulsed, 200 being killed and many prisoners captured. Conditions in that territory are now said to be peaceful.

Rebel Claims.

On the contrary, information from a revolutionary source at Buenos Aires is to the effect that the revolutionary army has succeeded in crossing the Sao Francisco River and is proceeding to ward the Capital of the state of Sergipe (Aracaju). The Rio Grande Railway since October 4 has carried 24,000 armed rebels and 10,000 horses, the greater part of those troops now being on the Sao Paulo front.

Government Supported.

Paris, Oct. 17.—According to a communiqué issued by the Brazilian ambassador, the Federal forces have occupied Passauquere and Soledade. On the frontier of the state of Minas Gornas they are holding their positions. A university battalion has been enrolled on the frontier of Sao Paulo and Parana, the various states are voluntarily recruiting militia.

U.S. Cruiser Despatched.

Washington, Oct. 17.—The cruiser Pensacola was to-day ordered by the U.S. Navy Department to proceed to the Brazilian coast and stand by in connection with the present revolutionary situation in Brazil.

Rebels Defeated.

Bertie, Oct. 18.—Reports received here from Brazil state that the government has issued a declaration absolutely rejecting the offer of peace made by General Costa and refusing any negotiation with the rebels. According to American Press reports the battle of Itarare ended in a serious defeat of the rebels thanks to the superiority of the artillery of the government's forces.

LEAGUE'S REPORT ON GOLD.

UPWARD OR DOWNWARD TENDENCIES.

PROBABLE TREND OF PRICES.

The interim report of the League of Nations gold delegations appointed by the Finance Committee last year "to examine into and report upon the causes of fluctuations in the purchasing power of gold and their effect on the economic life of the nations" has been issued.

In this interim report the delegations have dealt only with part of their terms of reference. The question examined is whether the current and prospective production of gold on the one hand and the normal increase in demand as world production and trade increase on the other are such as to make it likely that the general trend of prices over a series of years (and apart from short-term oscillations) will be in an upward or downward direction.

The delegations have reserved for further consideration the problem of the distribution of gold, of the effect of price fluctuations on general prosperity, of the manner in which such variations can best be measured, and of cyclical as distinguished from long-term movements. The interim report being confined to the problem of the long-term trend, the delegations have not entered on the questions connected with the measures which may be adopted to deal with short-term price fluctuations. They make, however, the following remarks:

It is obvious that when throughout any period there is a long-term tendency of prices to fall owing to a scarcity of gold the difficulties in periods of depression will be increased more especially for certain countries. If for any reason there is a distribution of the gold stocks which limits their efficiency. In the second place, the effect of a temporary depreciation of prices will clearly be aggravated if the depression comes as an addition to a long-term downward trend caused by a scarcity of gold, and in particular the dangers and evils of competitive high discount rates are likely to be increased.

Gold Production.

Dealing with the question of gold production, which is at present about $400,000,000 a year, the delegations anticipate that after the next three or four years, during which there will be a slight increase, a decline is to be expected. According to the official and semi-official estimates furnished to the gold delegations there will be a gradual decline after 1933, and the gold production in 1940 will be only about $314,000,000. According to Mr. Joseph Kitchin, the gold production in 1940 will be $370,000,000.

With regard to monetary gold stocks, the delegations say that the provisional figures for the end of this year show total reserves of $10,425,000,000, and total monetary stocks of about $11,175,000,000. In addition to the monetary gold stocks large quantities of gold are, of course, in the hands of the public, more especially in India, in the form of gold ornaments, private hoards, etc. There is no evidence, however, that gold flows to any large extent from non-monetary to monetary reserves, except during times of war.

The delegations consider it probable that the total demand for gold for non-monetary purposes, including that of India and China and certain other Oriental countries and the amount used for industrial purposes last year, may be estimated at between $180,000,000 and $200,000,000 a year, so that rather more than half the new gold mined to-day would be available for monetary purposes. If gold production falls off in the future, as is anticipated, and non-monetary use remained constant, the share available for monetary purposes must obviously diminish.

Gold for Monetary Purposes.

As regards the monetary demand, it would appear, the report says, from statistical material from the very great majority of gold-using countries, that the aggregate quantity of their notes and silver liabilities at the end of 1929 amounted to about $24,000,000. The actual gold cover held amounted on the average to a little over 40 per cent. of the liabilities, and minimum legal requirements to from 20 to 34 per cent. The report estimates that the demand for gold for monetary purposes is likely to increase at the rate of about 3 per cent. per annum, but the demand for gold for industrial purposes is likely to be constant or to decline at a rate of about 2 and a half per cent.

SAIGON RICE MARKET.

NO BUSINESS. WHATEVER.

The following report on the rice market, dated, October 12, has been issued by the Société Indo-Chinoise de Commerce, Saigon:

The market has been absolutely lifeless without any business whatever, either with France or with Java. There has been absolutely no enquiry and no demand, and buyers have completely withdrawn.

Prices are daily going down and market closes weak "seller" at the following prices:

No. 1 long 25 per cent. and round 35 per cent.—100 francs per 100Ks., 6.70 guilders per Java pikol, 6.45 yen per picul, 5/2 shillings per cwt.

No. 2 Japan 40 per cent.—102 francs per 100Ks., 6.45 guilders per Java pikol, 6.35 yen per picul, 5/9 shillings per cwt.

Broken 1 & 2—92 francs per 100Ks., 5.60 guilders per Java pikol, 6.55 yen per picul, 7/10 shillings per cwt.

Shipment October-November f.o.b. Saigon.

Paddy:—The situation is unchanged. There have been small arrivals which do not find buyers.

New Crop:—There is nothing fresh to report. Everywhere the crop is growing normally and up to now prospects are quite dull. We do not hear of any fresh business for February-March.

According to these estimates, the amount of gold available for monetary purposes, which this year is $24,000,000 will have sunk in 1940 to $17,000,000, whereas gold reserves required to provide 33 per cent. in 1940 will be $204,000,000 if the increased demand is 2 per cent. per annum, and $240,000,000 if it is 3 per cent. In the former case there will be a deficit of $34,000,000 in 1940; in the latter case a deficit of $170,000,000.

The present decline in prices in monetary circulation and the existing business depression have temporarily checked the demand for monetary gold, and it is not impossible, in the opinion of the delegations, that industrial consumption may be slightly lower than they estimate. Nevertheless, in their opinion, the evidence points conclusively to the prospect of a serious situation arising as soon as, or shortly after, business activity revives, unless steps to alleviate it are taken in time.

As regards the distribution of gold, the report says that fifteen countries hold over 90 per cent. of the gold reserves of the world, and in the fifteen countries there was in 1929 a surplus of roughly $2,450,000,000, but three of the countries had a deficit which aggregated nearly $300,000,000, so that the surplus of the remaining twelve amounted to about $2,750,000,000. In the United States of America the surplus was $1,500,000,000. In 1929 France and the United States together increased their reserves by about $510,000,000, which probably about $140,000,000 were withdrawn from commercial banks and private hoards.

The conclusion of the report is that the probable trend of prices in the future must give rise to some anxiety, but the delegations are of opinion that remedial measures can be found. They proceed to suggest some directions in which these may be sought, apart from the problem of distribution which will be dealt with in a subsequent report.

The delegations warmly approve of the discontinuance of the use of gold coin for domestic currency purposes, and hope that it will become universal. They hold that the minimum reserves required by law to-day are largely conventional, and that a considerable economy could be accomplished were the current accepted minima reduced. They have that this can be done without weakening the general credit structure, and that it could best be done by an international understanding. Some economy of gold might, they believe, be effected by extending the use of cheques, etc., and by developing and improving the mechanism of clearings. They suggest the abolition of stamp duties on cheques and the removal of all other impediments to their use.

The delegations stress the desirability of replacing notes of small denominations by subsidiary coins, at this would effect an economy both in the demand for gold and in the cost of currency. They further suggest that any countries that have not yet stabilized their currencies should adopt what is generally called the gold exchange standard. They recommend that the reserves of foreign assets should as a rule be concentrated in central banks, and suggest an international understanding that the reserves held abroad by countries for the maintenance of their currency should not be subject to seizure or confiscation in time of war.

The report is accompanied by thirteen annexes dealing with specific questions.
